Overview

GLs Science Farm is a hands-on program where you can experience farming, learn science, and continue learning over time.

For more information about the location and the organization, please visit: <https://services.geoleaders.jp/gls-science-farm/>

<What You Can Do>

The farm has three different areas, each with a different purpose.

■ Share Farm Zone

•An area where participants grow the same crops together while learning by comparing differences and changes.

•This area is managed by Geo-Trek Academy staff.

■ Science Farm Zone

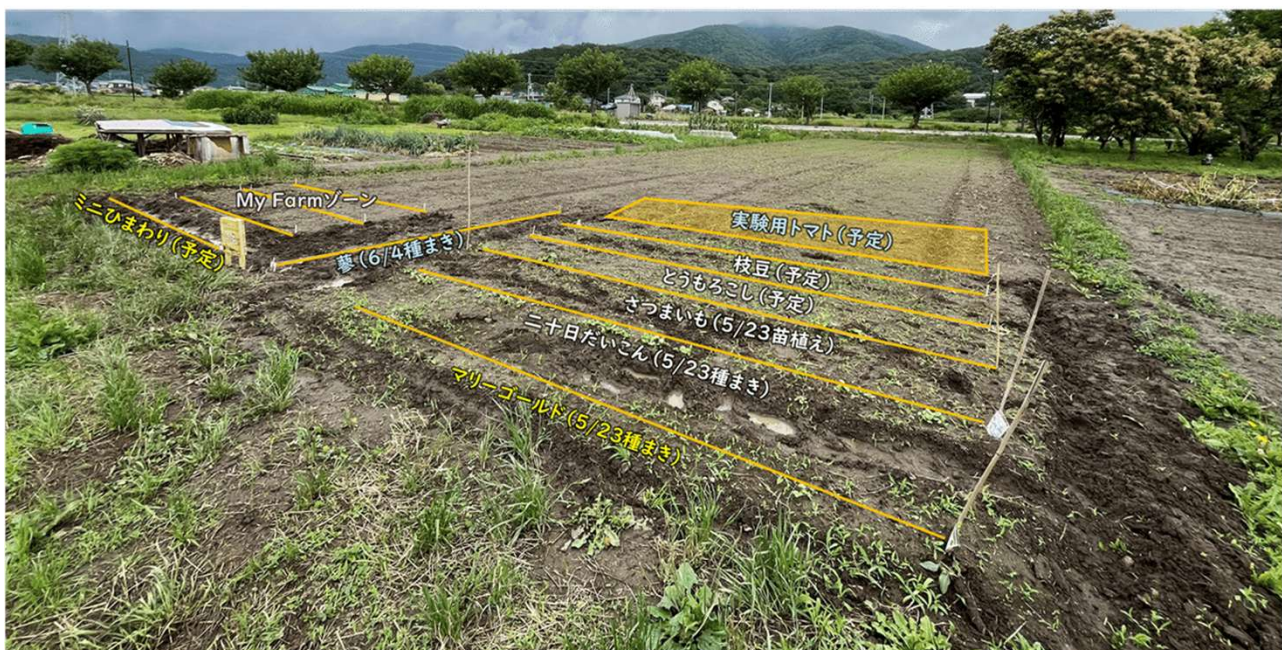

•A learning area that connects agriculture and craftsmanship, where participants can use crops they have grown to experience processes such as dyeing.

•This area is managed by Geo-Trek Academy staff.

■ My Farm Zone

•An area where participants can choose and grow their preferred crops freely (managed by themselves).

•By applying for an annual reservation (valid until February 2027), participants can use 1 to 2 planting rows.

Use of GLs Science Farm

1. Basic Principles

This farm is a place for learning through hands-on experiences. Please take care of the crops and the farm environment, and work together with staff and other members.

2. Use of Share Farm Zone and Science Farm Zone

- Activities and harvesting follow the event program.
- Please follow staff guidance.
- Do not run; be mindful of safety and nature.
- Harvesting or taking crops without permission is not allowed.
- Activities may change depending on weather and crop conditions.

3. Use of My Farm Zone

- You may visit and work at the farm at any time you like.
- Please prepare your own seeds, seedlings, and materials such as stakes and nets.
- You are responsible for managing your own plot and crops.
- Please be considerate of other members, as there are multiple plots in the area.
- If any issues or conflicts arise between members, please try to resolve them among yourselves first. If needed, staff will be available to support you.

4. Recording & Observation

Please observe and record without damaging crops. Photos are allowed; please be considerate of others.

5. Request

This farm is carefully maintained through the cooperation of many people.

We kindly ask you to use the farm with respect and appreciation for both nature and others, and to help preserve it as a place for learning.
